REDLANDS VOLUNTEERS RECOGNIZED FOR THEIR TIRELESS EFFORT

Even During Rough Economic Times, Residents Give Back to Redlands Community Hospital

Redlands, CA— The thousands of hours of personal service that volunteers provide is one of the things that makes Redlands Community Hospital a shining star to all those who visit. On Monday, April 20 more than 300 volunteers will be honored at the ‘Wild About Our Volunteers’ celebration at the Weisser Education Pavillion at 2 p.m. Redlands Community Hospital will be dedicating an entire week of activities to those who have donated more than 50,000 hours this past year.

“Not only do volunteers do vital work, but they do it willingly and with enthusiasm. I can’t begin to share what that means to our patients staff and physicians,” says Jim Holmes, CEO, President of Redlands Community Hospital. “Volunteers greet patients, deliver medication, work in the gift shop, distribute mail, escort patients from department to department, and are often the first point of contact for family members waiting for a surgical patient.”

Thanks to Marcia Van Mouwerik , Auxiliary President for Redlands Community Hospital, and her 22-member board, thousands of hours have been logged and more than 50 services throughout the hospital benefit from the commitment of the volunteers. The Auxiliary donated $75,000 to the Redlands Community Hospital Foundation last December and is well on the way to doing the same this year through gift shop proceeds and quilt ticket sales.
